

www.ypii.eu

JAN TRZASKOWSKI

Your Privacy Is Important to Us!

Restoring Human Dignity in Data-Driven Marketing

Ex Tuto
PUBLISHING
www.extuto.com

JAN TRZASKOWSKI

Your Privacy Is Important to Us!

Restoring Human Dignity in Data-Driven Marketing

Ex Tuto
PUBLISHING
www.extuto.com

Jan Trzaskowski

Your Privacy Is Important to Us! – Restoring Human Dignity in Data-Driven Marketing

First edition, second imprint

This book was published in November 2021 by Ex TUTO PUBLISHING A/S. Design and typesetting by MERE.INFO A/S, which has used LibreOffice for Linux and the typefaces Baskerville Original and Cronos designed in 2000 and 1996 by FRANTIŠEK ŠTORM and ROBERT SLIMBACH, respectively. KATE GILBERT has copyedited the manuscript. The book is printed in Denmark on Munken Pure 120 g/m² by NARAYANA PRESS, and the binding is carried out by BUCHBINDEREI S.R. BÜGE GMBH.

We have made this book from FSC-certified paper to support sustainable forest management.

Copyright © 2021 the author

Printed in Denmark 2023

ISBN 978-87-420-0042-7

Ex Tuto Publishing A/S

Toldbodgade 55, 1.

DK-1253 København K

www.extuto.com

FairPublishing

for Tilde, Theodor & Emilia

Outline Contents

	PART I – INTRODUCTION	1
1	Why this book? #law and beyond #methodology #delimitations #structure	3
2	Data-Driven Business Models #surveillance capitalism #value extraction #harm	9
	PART II – LAW	23
3	Regulating Markets #law #markets #architecture #consumer protection	25
4	Data Protection Law #gdpr #personal data #lawful processing #legitimate basis	37
5	Marketing Law #ucpd #professional diligence #average consumer	73
	PART III – PSYCHOLOGY AND TECHNOLOGY	107
6	Human Decision-Making #agency #psychology #bounded rationality #willpower	109
7	Persuasive Technology #technology #choice architecture #friction #prompts	143

8	Manipulation #coercion #deception #subliminal marketing #paternalism	157
9	Transparency #information #communication #complexity #asymmetry	179
	PART IV – SOCIETY	211
10	Human Dignity and Democracy #human well-being #privacy #discrimination #proportionality	213
	PART V – CONCLUSIONS AND BEYOND	263
11	Conclusions #human dignity #data-driven marketing #being human	265
12	Next Steps #action #conversations #future	277

Contents

Foreword	xv
Preface	xxi
Abbreviations	xxv
PART I – INTRODUCTION	1
1 Why this book?	3
1. Aim and objectives	4
2. Methodology	4
2.1. Law and policy	5
3. Assumptions and delimitations	5
4. Structure	7
4.1. PART I—INTRODUCTION	7
4.2. PART II—LAW	7
4.3. PART III—PSYCHOLOGY AND TECHNOLOGY	8
4.4. PART IV—SOCIETY	8
4.5. PART V—CONCLUSIONS AND BEYOND	8
2 Data-Driven Business Models	9
1.1. Personalisation and surveillance	10
1.2. Value extraction and behaviour modification	11
1.3. ‘Free’	12
2. Providing access to ourselves . . . and others	12
2.1. Online and offline	16
3. Artificial Intelligence (AI)	16
3.1. A proxy for understanding people	18
4. Harms from attention extraction and behaviour modification	19

PART II – LAW	23
3 Regulating Markets	25
1. Law	25
1.1. Regulating human behaviour	26
1.2. Interpretation and assessment	27
2. Markets	28
3. Consumer protection law	29
3.1. Marketing and marketing law	32
3.2. Privacy and data protection law	33
4 Data Protection Law	37
1. Privacy	37
1.1. Data protection	39
2. The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)	41
2.1. Scope of application and interpretation	41
2.2. Six principles	42
2.2.1. Legitimacy	43
2.2.2. Proportionality	44
2.2.3. Empowerment	47
2.2.4. Transparency	50
2.2.5. Accountability	51
2.2.6. Security	53
3. Legitimate basis for data-driven marketing	54
3.1. Contractual necessity	56
3.1.1. Further processing	59
3.2. The balancing test	61
3.3. Consent	63
3.3.1. Genuine choice	65
3.3.2. Informed choice	69
4. Automated individual decision-making, including profiling	69
5 Marketing Law	73
1. The Unfair Commercial Practices Directive (UCPD)	76
1.1. Scope of application and interpretation	76
1.1.1. Digital services and digital content	78
1.1.2. Taste and decency	79
2. The prohibition of unfair commercial practices	80
2.1. The requirements of professional diligence	82
2.2. Economic effect	83
2.2.1. The average consumer	84
2.2.2. Vulnerable consumers	86

3.	Misleading commercial practices	87
3.1.	Misleading actions	87
3.2.	Misleading omissions	89
3.2.1.	Limitations in time and space	90
3.2.2.	Identification of commercial intent	90
3.2.3.	Invitation to purchase	92
3.3.	Disclosure of ranking criteria	94
4.	Aggressive commercial practices	95
4.1.	Privacy infringing commercial practices	96
4.1.1.	Messages in social media services	99
5.	Blacklisted commercial practices	100
5.1.	Free	101
6.	Full harmonisation	101
6.1.	Assessment by national courts	102
7.	The interplay with data protection	104
PART III – PSYCHOLOGY AND TECHNOLOGY		107
6	Human Decision-Making	109
1.	Empowerment	110
1.1.	Agency, autonomy and free will	110
1.2.	The right to self-determination	111
2.	Rational decisions	114
3.	Bounded rationality	115
4.	Bounded rationality and the law	120
4.1.	The average consumer	121
4.2.	Professional diligence	124
4.2.1.	Information	126
4.2.2.	Aggressive commercial practices	128
4.3.	The CJEU's application of behavioural sciences	129
5.	Preference formation	133
5.1.	Storytelling and framing effects	134
5.2.	Cognitive overload and rational apathy	136
6.	Influencing human decision-making	138
6.1.	Developments in marketing	138
6.2.	Cialdini's principles of persuasion	139
7	Persuasive Technology	143
1.	Distinct advantages	145
1.1.	Friction	146
1.2.	Motivation, ability and prompts	147
2.	Personalisation	148
2.1.	The accuracy principle	150
3.	Emotions online	151
3.1.	Research ethics	154

8	Manipulation	157
1.	Manipulative commercial practices	158
1.1.	The average consumer online	161
1.2.	We are all vulnerable	162
2.	Lawful processing of personal data	163
2.1.	Data minimisation and storage limitation	163
2.2.	Automated individual decision-making, including profiling	164
2.3.	Pop-Ups	165
3.	Subliminal marketing	167
4.	Attention, engagement and addiction	168
4.1.	Exploitation	170
5.	Just add friction	171
5.1.	Paternalism and the right to self-determination	171
5.2.	Nudging and defaults	175
5.3.	Accountability and ethics	177
9	Transparency	179
1.	Transparency and empowerment	181
1.1.	The information paradigm	183
1.2.	Clear and comprehensible information	186
2.	Information asymmetries (three tiers)	187
2.1.	Tier 1. Seller, product and terms	189
2.2.	Tier 2. Human decision-making and persuasive technology	190
2.3.	Tier 3. The user (personal data)	192
2.4.	Their relative importance	193
2.5.	Levelling asymmetries	195
3.	Let's be honest	197
3.1.	Levels of transparency	199
3.2.	Honest framing	201
3.3.	Explainability	202
4.	Permission: consent or desist	204
5.	'Free' as in . . .	205
5.1.	Paying with personal data	208
	PART IV – SOCIETY	211
10	Human Dignity and Democracy	213
1.	Fundamental (human) rights	213
1.1.	Fundamental rights and business	217
1.2.	Commercial practices and fundamental rights	219
2.	Human dignity	221
2.1.	Paying with human dignity	223
2.2.	Human well-being	224
2.3.	Loneliness and social relations	227
2.4.	Dopamine and addiction	229
2.5.	Cognitive overload	231

3.	Privacy	233
3.1.	The ePrivacy Directive	235
3.2.	Consent and transparency in the context of marketing	237
4.	Non-discrimination	240
4.1.	Price discrimination	242
4.2.	Targeted advertising	245
5.	The freedom to conduct a business	246
5.1.	Proportionality	246
5.2.	Agency and the right to self-determination	250
5.3.	Meaningful, believable alternatives	253
5.4.	The cost of 'free'	253
5.5.	Aligned goals	255
6.	Democracy	256
PART V – CONCLUSIONS AND BEYOND		263
11	Conclusions	265
12	Next Steps	277
1.	Effective enforcement	277
1.1.	Effective, proportionate and dissuasive fines	279
2.	Is there hope in marketing?	281
3.	Humane technology and human welfare computing	283
4.	Education	284
4.1.	Stories	286
4.2.	Conversations	288
4.3.	Conscious and deliberate use of technology	289
5.	Who 'owns' your attention and agency?	290
	Acknowledgments	293
	Table of Cases	297
	Bibliography	301
	Index	319